

UDL BOOT CAMP

OPERATION BRIEF:

This two-day in-person workshop is designed to provide teachers with a clear understanding of why Universal Design for Learning is essential, how it incorporates research in learning and motivation, and what the actual framework entails. They will engage in an iterative process of lesson design in collaboration with their peers, using a rubric to provide each other with mastery-oriented feedback.

Presenters:

Dr. James McKenna, Consultant II - Inclusive Design and Becky Wetzel, Education Consultant

Registration is $250/person and includes breakfast, lunch, materials, and books.
