Course Description

This course will provide an overview of supervision principles for speech-language pathology. Legislation and policies for supervision of CFYs, RPEs, and SLP Assistants at the state and national levels will be explained. Updates to supervision policies, including a review of current tele-therapy guidelines and the ASHA certification for SLP Assistants, will be discussed. This course will also explore Anderson's continuum of supervision and components of effective supervision.

Learning Outcomes

- Identify the meaning and purpose of supervision and mentoring
- Describe state and ASHA supervision requirements for Graduate Clinicians, CFs, RPEs and SLP Assistants
- Describe Anderson's continuum of supervision stages
- Identify 3 components of effective supervision
