OPEN ACCESS Day 3:

Jill McCann, Jennifer Wright
& Jennifer Boettger

Students with specific learning needs may require accessibility resources to fully engage and demonstrate mastery of content during instruction and on assessments. To better serve them, teachers are encouraged to review these resources early in the school year and provide opportunities for students to experience them throughout the year in classroom instruction and assessment. Join us to learn more about the range of accessibility resources: Universal, Designated Supports, Accommodations and Unlisted Resources, and the importance of implementing these supports for assessments and how to use them to inform daily instruction.
